I know that there are real servers and such like Vatsim and others, but I am not too comfortable with flying in this game yet to do it with real ATC. So i was wondering if anyone had any suggests on what a good ATC Plugin would be, the original ATC is alright but it always messes with my vectoring taking me the wrong way. I currently am using X-Life but have found that it is better than the ...

I'm at FL50 flying 283 as per my flightplan - smack down the middle. ATC calls, issues a turn left to 260 and before I even acknowledge says resume own nav'. So I go back to AP on 283 and it just did it again, as I was typing this. Do I fly 260 as per ATC

hi, Mark from Australia. The main problem with the x-plane 11 atc system as far as ai traffic behaviour goes as far as i can see stems from the fact that the ai traffic does not actually fly complete real flight plans, instead it just randomly generates itself near the user aircraft.
