His deeds are the overflow of his joy. This is what it means when the Scripture says that God does something according to the " good pleasue " of his will. It means that nothing outside God ' s own pleasue — the pleasue he has in what he is, nothing but that pleasue — has constrained his choices and his deeds. God Does Whatever He Pleases

For we recognize pleasue as the first good innate in us, and from pleasue we begin every act of choice and avoidance, and to pleasue we return again, using the feeling as the standard by which we judge every good. And since pleasue is the first good and natural to us, for this very reason we do not choose every pleasue, but sometimes we pass over many pleasues, when greater discomfort accrues to us as the result of them: and similarly we think many pains better than pleasues, since a ...

Epicureanism argued that pleasue was the chief good in life. Hence, Epicurus advocated living in such a way as to derive the greatest amount of pleasue possible during one's lifetime, yet doing so moderately in order to avoid the suffering incurred by overindulgence in such pleasue. Emphasis was placed on pleasues of the mind rather than on physical pleasues.
