Learning to Listen for a Life of Purpose, Health & JOY

The first step in learning to listen is to learn to be quiet. Make a friend of silence. This can be difficult because nobody wants to be thought of as dull. There is a natural desire to respond quickly, and to be seen as interesting and smart. But if you resist this urge even a little bit, a new thing can begin to happen.

Listening is one of the basic building blocks of language and communication and, particularly in the early years of education, one of the main vehicles for a child's learning. Up to 80 per cent of learning in the early years is verbal and this is why, as practitioners, we are so concerned to see children with poor listening skills.
